III. INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITIES

Macroeconomics: Economic Situation and Prospect

Source:SSI

Vietnam’s GDP grew 8.02% in 2022, tapering off to 5.92% in Q4 after an extremely strong 13.71% in Q3. As Vietnam emerged from the Covid pandemic, GDP growth rebounded strongly. The government’s policies of living with a managed risk from Covid attracted FDI and supported manufacturing. Vietnam’s growth has been stronger than regional peers and among the highest globally. The service sector had the highest growth after emerging from lockdowns and rebounding from a low base.

Source:SSI

Strong FDI continues to drive Vietnam’s growth. Disbursed FDI increased 13.5% YoY to a record high level of USD22.4 bn. Furthermore, 60.6% of registered FDI went into the manufacturing sector, which should boost future exports over the longterm. Registered FDI declined 11% YoY and has been declining since 2019. This is due to a lack of new energy sector projects because of delays in approving the national Power Development Plan (PDP8). Other sectors continue to increase.

Investment into Vietnam's manufacturing sector has accelerated due to difficulties in China as companies. For example, in December, Apple announced plans to move part of its supply chain out of China and Foxconn earlier announced plans to invest an additional $300 million in Vietnam.

Source: GSO, SSIAM

FDI companies continued to drive strong trade numbers in 2022. Vietnam recorded a strong goods trade surplus of USD11.2 bn for the year. Mobile phones, PCs & electronics from companies such as Samsung continued to be Vietnam's leading export products.

Slowing US demand is impacting Vietnam

Source:SSI

Exports declined YoY in November and December though as US retailers worked through excess inventories in anticipation of lower consumer demand in 2023. Telephones & mobile phones and garments & textiles, Vietnam's largest export products declined 22% and 21% YoY respectively during those months.

Nguồn: GSO, SSIAM

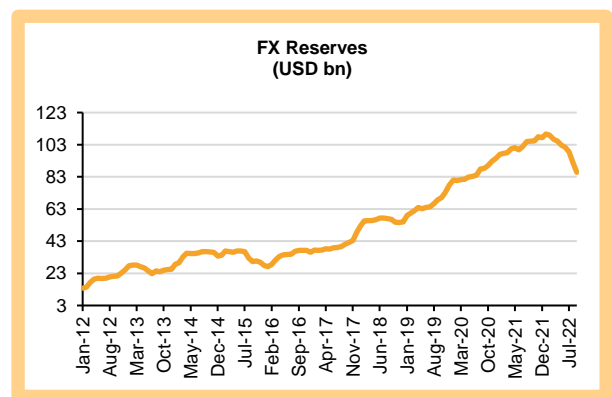

Many people are looking towards China's reopening to offset the US slowdown. Certain sectors, such as tourism, will definitely benefit. Chinese tourists made up 30% of the total in 2019. However, exports to the US are double that of China, so the losses may not be completely offset. Additionally, China's reopening may be slowed as its covid cases spike.

Rising US interest rates impacted Vietnam even more strongly

Source: Investing.com, FiinPro

Of course, the slowdown in US consumer demand has been caused by the Fed's resolve to bring down inflation by raising interest rates. This, combined with effects of Russia's war in Ukraine sent the US dollar soaring versus many currencies and increased the threat of inflation in Vietnam.

Source: Bloomberg

The State Bank of Vietnam (SBV) responded by raising its policy interest rates and selling off foreign reserves. These efforts were largely successful as the VND was one of the less affected currencies compared to our Asian neighbors and year-over-year inflation stayed manageable at 4.5% in December.

Market Situation 2022: Liquidity declines and businesses issuing a lot of bonds may face difficulties in 2023

New, stricter regulations on private issuance of corporate bonds have made the market quiet with circulating volume decreasing by VND 144.8 trillion in Q4/2022, erasing the entire increase achieved in 9 months before.

The volume of listed bonds in 2022 increased by 12.5% (mainly bonds issued by commercial banks) but was only equal to less than 5% of the total market size. The volume of listed bonds is forecast to continue to increase in 2023.

The year 2023 is predicted to be difficult for issuers, especially in the real estate sector, unless banking system liquidity is significantly improved. However, with policy adjustments and stricter market management, the quality of issued bonds is expected to be improved and the Vietnamese bond market will develop more sustainably in the long term.

SSIBF FUND INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITIES

The fund will continue to maintain a strategy of focusing on investing 80-100% of the portfolio in leading corporate bonds, certificates of deposit, deposits and other fixed-interest products. Strict risk control and appraisal processes will be the basis for the fund to minimize credit risks. Forecasting medium-term prospects, the macroeconomic environment in general will be favorable, important macroeconomic variables such as inflation, interest rates, exchange rates and economic growth will continue to support economic activities. investment and create new bond investment opportunities.

The fund is managed by a team of excellent experts, with a flexible asset allocation strategy focusing on groups of bonds and fixed products with liquidity and reasonable risk based on the ability to evaluate the macroeconomic situation market developments in each period.

As an open-ended fund, SSIBF has many advantages including:

- Professional Management: Instead of self-investment, open-ended fund connects Investor with professional asset Managers, who have expertise, Investment experience and resources to build an appropriate Investment portfolio accounting for the Fund's Investment strategy, as well as to monitor and rebalance portfolio according to the market fluctuations.
- Reasonable allocation: The Fund invests 80%-100% its total net assets in listed bonds, unlisted bonds (less than or equal to 10% its total net assets), certificates of deposits and deposits of top credit institutions.
- Liquidity: Investor can redeem open-ended fund certificates to Fund Management Company at redemption price based on the Fund's NAV. This is an advantage of open-ended fund compared to closed-ended one, which often sees a difference between NAV per fund unit and price of one fund unit in the stock market.
- Higher safety for investors: With a large proportion of listed bonds, certificates of deposit and bank deposits, the Fund's liquidity is always maintained because these investment products have high liquidity, ensuring Ensure payment needs to investors in all situations..
- The buying/selling price of open-ended fund certificates does not fluctuate out of the Net Asset Value as listed closed one: Open-ended Funds allow investors to buy/sell fund certificates at buying/selling price equal to the Net Asset Value per unit of the Fund on the transaction date plus subscription fee/minus redemption fee, bank transfer fee and taxes (if any).
- The flexibility of "Family of Funds": Open-ended funds belong to the "Family of Funds "managed by the fund management company. The Fund's investment strategy changes, investors can easily switch from one open-end fund to another with a much smaller expense than restructuring individual stocks.

6. Risks associated when investing in the Fund

Similar to any other type of Investment, investing in SSIBF may have risks. Investors should be aware of these risks, their own risk appetite and consider carefully prior to making Investment decisions in the Fund. As the Investment manner, SSIAM applies risk management techniques; however, there still exist some risks. It is important that Investors note that:

- Investment in the Fund is not guaranteed by any Supervisory Bank or any other institution that the Fund will achieve its investment goal. Returns of Investment may be lower than Investors' expectation or lower than other Investment alternatives that were available at the time of the original Investment over the same Investment period or Investors' principal may be partially or wholly lost. The Fund, SSIAM, their directors and employees make no guarantee against loss of principal or returns on the Investment.

- SSIBF aims to achieve long-term growth of the Fund's Net Asset Value and create stable income for Investors. Investors should not expect immediate and/or short-term returns and income from investing in the Fund.
- There is no guarantee or assurance on the frequency or amount of any dividend. Dividend distribution depends on sources of profit distribution, the Fund's profit distribution policy and approval of the Fund's annual General Meeting of Investors and/or Board of Fund Representatives. Subject to sources of profit distribution, Investors may not receive the amount of dividend as expected or at the time expected.
- Past performance of funds, of SSIAM or of its owner, does not indicate or guarantee the future performance of the Fund.
- SSIAM is not liable for Investment risks of the Fund, nor are its Chairman, directors, and employees liable for operational risks of SSIAM managing the Fund.
- The Fund is an open-ended fund; therefore, Investor can freely subscribe or redeem fund units to the Fund Management Company based on market. When subscribing or redeeming fund units, Investor may have tax obligation as required by applicable laws. Tax obligation of Investor does not reflect in the Fund's operating result.

Following are the major risks of investing in securities (but may not cover all risks of investing in the Fund):

- Market Risk: This type of risks occurs when the Investment value of the Fund decreases partially or wholly within a period of time. This risk may result in an decrease in value of the whole market. This systematic risk goes beyond the Fund Management Company's control. However, there are many factors contributed to market risk, which can be minimized by identifying and specifically controlling each type of risk, for example, inflation risk, interest rate risk, price volatility risk, and exchange rate risk.
- Inflation risk: Inflation risk is the risk that the value of the Fund's Investments declines due to inflation. Inflation risks have different effects on stocks and bonds.

Bond prices often move inversely to changes in inflation, since increased inflation will require an increase in bond yields, resulting in lower bond prices. In addition, continuously high inflation rate would reduce the real value of the bonds' face value and coupons received every period. The Fund may reduce inflation risk on Fund's asset allocated to bonds by reducing the term of the bonds or hold more bonds with floating interest rate if inflation is expected to rise; or vice versa.

Inflation has indirect effects on stocks because companies can pass the increased costs due to inflation to their consumers. However, overall, in increasing inflation environment, increased borrowing costs due to generally high interest rate will lead to reduction of investment. As a result, business value and growth shall decline. The Fund may reduce risks of inflation on Fund's asset allocated to stocks by investing in stocks of companies with sustainable competitive advantages including the capability of the companies to transfer majority of the inflation impacts to customers and consumers.

- Interest rate risk: Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of financial instruments held by the Fund fluctuates due to changes in market interest rates resulting from changes in monetary demand/supply and other macro-economic factors. Interest rate risk directly affects bonds and indirectly affects stocks.

Increased interest rates will decrease the bond prices in the secondary market to make actual bonds yields increase equally to market interest rates. Higher interest rates directly impact on the demand for loans and debt structure of each company, the company's ability to raise selling prices to offset the increased financial costs, inflation expectations; these factors indirectly affect the stock prices.

To minimize this risk, the Fund Management Company shall regularly analyze and evaluate the macro-economic conditions, bond market movements and interest rate expectations in each period to make appropriate asset allocation decisions. For the assets allocated to bonds, the Fund will keep the term of the bonds suitable with expectations of the interest rate.

- Exchange rate risk: Credit risk is the risk that arises when the issuer of bonds and debt instruments becomes insolvent or loses the ability to fulfill obligations for the Fund's investments that are due for payment or fulfillment of obligations.

Credit risk also occurs when the issuer of debt instruments in which the Fund invests has its credit rating downgraded, causing the discount rate for debt instruments issued by this organization to increase and the value of the Fund investor's investment reduces.

To limit risks, the Fund can invest in Government Bonds, Government-guaranteed bonds, local government bonds, which are safe in terms of solvency. For corporate bonds (if any), until Vietnam establishes reputable intermediary financial institutions responsible for assessing credit limits, the Fund can apply statistical techniques, internal system, and refer to credit rating assessments from available intermediary organizations to make reasonable investment decisions to minimize risks.

- Legal risk: Vietnam securities market as well as its legal framework are still young, and the Government is still in the process of completing and adjusting the legal framework for securities operations and securities market. These adjustments may influence the Fund's operations or the Fund's asset value in the future.

The Fund Management Company will assess the impact of these changes on the Fund and the companies in the Fund's portfolio to adjust the portfolio's structure accordingly.

- Risk of Investment restriction: The bond market in Vietnam is currently quite limited in terms of quantity, issuer, industry, issuance frequency as well as the diversification of terms and product categories. Hence SSIAM may encounter difficulties in searching for investment opportunities following asset allocation strategy chosen or difficulty in investment portfolio diversification.

Relevant regulations only allow the Fund to invest in listed shares, shares registered for trading, shares to be listed, delays equitization and listing, registration of shares of potential companies shall reduce the diversification and representation and also limit Investment opportunities of the Fund in the best companies of different industries and market capitalization.

- Reinvestment risk: This is a typical risk of bond investments when the cash flow from the bond is reinvested at an interest rate lower than the market interest rate at the time of bond purchase. This risk occurs when market interest rates tend to decrease.

Reinvestment risk management will be carried out by the Fund through close monitoring of interest rate expectations in the market, shown on the yield curve and term of the bond portfolio. Long-term bonds will be prioritized for holding when interest rates are high and expected to decrease. Bonds with short maturities or floating interest rates will be preferred to hold if interest rates are expected to increase.

- Risk of valuation: The risk arises when the interest rates used for valuation are different from the actual ones, which makes the market value of assets purchased/sold different from the book value. The discount rate used for valuation is based on the interest rate listed on the HNX/VBMA/ Bloomberg/ Reuters; this is only the reference interest rate, depending on the timing and quality of data, this interest rate may not be similar to the actual one.
- Risk of shortage of hedging instruments: In accordance with the local regulations, the Fund can use listed derivative securities for hedging purposes. However, the current derivative instruments have not been developed in Vietnam so there may be no available products to invest.
- Liquidity Risk: The risk arises when the Fund could not liquidate its assets to pay for redemption orders in one Dealing Date or within a specific period of time due to low market liquidity; or the redemption/switch orders can only be partially processed as the Fund's NAV falls below the NAV threshold prescribed by law, or the redemption/switch orders exceed the maximum withdrawal under the provisions of law. Moreover, in force majeure circumstances, investors cannot redeem fund units during the trading suspension period.

Fund Management Company reserves the right to process partial redemption or extend the time limit for redemption payment in situations specified in the fund certificates transaction mechanism section in this Prospectus. When the redemption orders take longer to process than required by applicable law due to the reasons specified above, the Fund Management Company will publish information about the reasons and expected time to process redemption orders of Investors.

To minimize liquidity risk, the Fund shall maintain an appropriate level of liquidity by investing an appropriate ratio of its assets in high liquidity securities to ensure redemption orders could be carried out; the redemption payment in almost cases will be processed on time and shall not be affected by the stocks with low liquidity.

- Risk of Fund Management Operation: The risk arises when not all Investment decisions by SSIAM are profitable or meet expectations at the time of execution, or when the key Investment staffs of SSIAM have left position.
- Conflict of interest risk: the Fund Management Company shall face conflicts of interests between the investment funds and other financial products that it manages. This risk can be managed by establishing separate management team for each fund as well as an internal “Chinese Wall” aimed at minimizing the risk.
- Force Majeure risk: The risk arises when unforeseeable events occur objectively and go beyond the control of the Fund Management Company, these events may have critical and sudden impact on the value of all or some of the Fund’s assets. These events may include:
 - Natural disasters (earthquakes, floods), fire, nuclear disaster;
 - Business environment such as the financial crisis, the banking system crisis, or loss of maining ability of key directors;
 - Crisis, computer and information system malfunction.

3.5. Investment plans and fund participation

a) NORMAL SUBSCRIPTION METHOD

Investor can participate in the Fund on any Dealing date. Investor places order at the Fund Distributor on any Dealing date. Method of normal subscription will follow section 3.1 to section 3.4 of this prospectus.

b) SYSTEMATIC INVESTMENT PLAN (SIP)

Systematic Investment Plan is a systematic Investment program, whereby Investor periodically pays a certain amount of Investment (such as monthly or quarterly) to purchase Fund Certificates. Systematic Investment Plan is popular in countries developed open-ended funds industry and significant participation of investors thanks to the benefits that this Investment plan can bring to investors.

Benefits of Systematic Investment Plan (SIP)

Systematic Investment Plan benefits Investors by allowing them to regularly spend a certain amount of money to purchase fund certificates in a certain period. For example, Investor allocates VND 1 million/month or VND 3 million/quarter to buy SSIBF Certificates. By spending a certain amount of money periodically, Investor could buy more low-price fund certificates and less high price fund certificates. As a result, at the end of the Investment period, Investor's adverse cost of Investment per Fund Unit would often be lower than average Fund Certificate Price, regardless of the fluctuations of fund certificate price. With this plan, Investor would benefit without regularly monitoring the fluctuations of Fund Certificates price, which also helps maintain disciplines in their investment activities.

Example: An investor participates in Systematic Investment Plan. In the first year, the investor pays VND 3 million quarterly to purchase Fund Certificates. The number of Fund Certificates that the investor purchases is equivalent to the monthly Fund Certificate Price as follows (assuming no Subscription Fee)

Quarter	Price (NAV per Fund Unit)	Invested Amount	Number of allocated Fund units
1	10,000	3,000,000	300
2	12,000	3,000,000	250
3	15,000	3,000,000	200
4	11,000	3,000,000	272.72
Total		12,000,000	1,022.72

Investors' adverse cost per fund unit is:

Average cost of Investment = VND 12,000,000/1,022.72 = VND 11,733/Fund Unit

Average/Subscription Price = VND (10,000 + 12,000 + 15,000+ 11,000)/4 = VND 12,000

This example illustrates the benefits obtained by Investor participating in Systematic Investment Plan without regularly monitoring Fund Certificate price (NAV).

Moreover, as participating in Systematic Investment Plan of SSIBF, Investor has the following benefit: Pay lower Subscription Fee compared to normal plan.

Note for Investor: Systematic Investment Plan can benefit Investor but cannot guarantee profits for them.

2) In calculating the commitment value, the Fund Management Company may apply:

- Offset principle of derivative position (reversal) for an underlying security, for example a long position of a call option of XYZ securities will reduce (net off) the commitment value of a short position of a call option of XYZ securities.

- Offset principle of derivative position and spot one for an underlying security, for example a long position of XYZ securities will reduce (net off) the commitment value deriving from the short position of XYZ call option.
